

HR & Employment Policy

Employment terms, leave, compensation, performance, and exit process

Category: HR

1. Employment Basics

1.1 Employment Types

Employees may be classified as full-time, part-time, temporary, or contract/consultant. Classification determines eligibility for benefits, leave, and certain company policies.

1.2 Working Hours

Standard working hours are Monday through Friday, 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM, with a one-hour lunch break, unless a different schedule is agreed upon with a manager.

1.3 Probation Period

New employees typically undergo a probation period of 90 days from their start date, during which performance and fit are evaluated by the employee's manager.

1.4 Remote and Hybrid Work

Employees approved for remote or hybrid work must remain reachable during core business hours, maintain a secure home working environment, and attend in-person meetings when reasonably requested.

2. Attendance and Leave Policy

2.1 Attendance

Employees must notify their manager as early as possible, and in any case before the start of the workday, if they will be late or absent.

2.2 Annual Leave

Full-time employees accrue annual leave according to company policy and local law. Leave requests should be submitted through the HR system at least one week in advance where possible.

2.3 Sick Leave

Employees unable to work due to illness should notify their manager as soon as possible. A medical certificate may be required for absences exceeding three consecutive working days.

2.4 Public Holidays and Other Leave

Additional leave categories, such as maternity/paternity leave, bereavement leave, and unpaid leave, are available in accordance with local law; consult HR for eligibility.

3. Compensation and Benefits

3.1 Payroll

Salaries are paid monthly via direct bank transfer, on or before the last working day of each month, unless stated otherwise in the employment contract.

3.2 Overtime

Where applicable by role and local law, overtime must be pre-approved by a manager and compensated per company policy and statutory requirements.

3.3 Benefits

Employees may be eligible for health insurance, retirement/provident fund contributions, wellness allowances, and professional development budgets, per their offer letter.

3.4 Expense Reimbursement

Business expenses must be pre-approved where required and submitted with valid receipts; reimbursement is typically processed within 30 days of approval.

4. Performance Management and Disciplinary Action

4.1 Performance Reviews

Performance is reviewed on a regular basis (e.g., annually or semi-annually) against agreed goals, informing development, promotion, and compensation decisions.

4.2 Disciplinary Process

Violations of policy may lead to progressive discipline: verbal warning, written warning, final written warning, and termination, depending on severity. Serious misconduct may result in immediate termination.

4.3 Grievance Procedure

Employees who disagree with a disciplinary decision or have a workplace grievance may raise it formally with HR for review.

5. Confidentiality, Termination, and Exit Policy

5.1 Confidentiality

Employees must protect confidential company information and intellectual property both during and after employment; these obligations survive termination.

5.2 Resignation

Employees who wish to resign should submit written notice to their manager and HR, observing the notice period in their contract (commonly 30 days for confirmed employees).

5.3 Termination by the Company

The company may terminate employment for poor performance, misconduct, redundancy, or business necessity, per the employment contract and applicable law.

5.4 Exit Process

Departing employees must return all company property, complete a knowledge-transfer handover, and participate in an exit interview where requested.

End of document. Template content — replace with your organization's actual policy.